Spy cameras cash in

BY KATHRYN CAIN

kathryn cain@hedsonsunday.com

SPY cameras watching our every move on the road have raked in more than a million pounds from motorists across the county over the last few years.

Six CCTV cars, with all-seeing cameras on their roofs prowl the streets, catching out drivers who park illegally and break the rules of the road

Pressure group Big Brother Watch, which looked into the earnings of all local authorities in the UK, revealed last week that between 2008 and 2013 councils nationally made £312m from

While the vehicles have netted six-figure sums in the north of the county, in Luton it's the eyes in the sky drivers should watch for.

Since April 2012 the sole CCTV car in Luton earned the borough council £37,190 up until March last year while static cameras which snap motorists travelling in bus lanes for example, earned £627,106 from

À spokesman for Luton Borough Council said: "The council will continue to use CCTV as a method of enforcement where it is necessary and proportionate to do so."

In Bedford Borough there are two camera vehicles which fined 7,715 motorists a total of £303,488 from when they were unleashed in December 2010 and November

2011 until March last year, while in Central Bedfordshire, three cars have caught out 10,599 people to the tune of £221,885 between December 2011 and March 2013

Slamming the cameras, Bedford Councillor Roger Rigby said: "Tickets are being handed out when they are not necessary. It's highway robbery.' All three councils in Bedfordshire said the CCTV

All three councils in Bedfordshire said the CCTV vehicles were primarily used to protect children by patrolling roads where there are schools. A spokeswoman for Bedford Borough Council said: "It is wrong to suggest that CCTV enforcement vehicles are a money-making exercise. These vehicles do not raise large amounts of cash for the council and were never intended to do so.

A spokesman for Central Bedfordshi. Council added that the enforcement was designed to improve road safety and cut of a government consultation into whether camera cars should be banned, is likely to be made public next month. What do you think?

'Pack of thugs' attacked owner of computer shop

BY JULIA SUTTON

editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

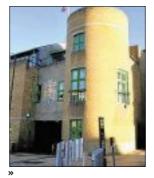

A 'PACK OF THUGS' attacked a computer shop owner after his tenant had filmed them behaving badly outside the premises.

They had made the life of Charlie Chan so difficult that, on previous occasions, he had to shut City Computers in Hart Lane when they were around, Luton Crown Court heard on Thursday

Thursday.
Omar Harris, 23, and Grant Noon, 19, were part of the gang of seven to 10 that attacked Mr Chan. He needed five stitches to a cut above his left eyebrow and suffered bruising to the chest, arm and leg as the assault continued while he was on the ground.

Mr Chan had been confronted by the group, who had demanded that he hand over a video taken of them by his tenant.

taken of them by his tenant.
Harris of Dallow Road, Luton and Noon of Abbotswood Road, Luton were convicted of causing actual bodily harm to Mr Chan on April 13, 2012. A third defendant Ashley Brown, 27, of Ashburnham Road, Luton is due to be sentenced on Tuesday.

For Harris, David Healey said he had no previous convictions for violence and had spent six weeks in custody. He had not offended since the time of the case, he said.

Stephen Halloran for Noon said he was only 17 at the time of the offence. He said there had been an "inexcusable delay" in bringing the case to court. He said the victim had said none of the injuries were caused by his client. His role in the attack was one of "unarticulated support," he said. Judge Barbara Mensah told them: "Mr Chan had run the computer shop for many years. He had been the subject of bad behaviour and had problems with youths in the area. On occasions it would be so bad he would shut the shop. When those responsible were videoed you did not like it. You are cowards and bullies. You were part of a pack of thugs who carried out an unprovoked attack. Mr Chan is afraid to go out and has put in added security."

The judge said she took into account the six weeks they had spent in custody after their conviction. She passed a 12 month jail sentence suspended for 18 months on both men.

Harris must carry out 180 hours unpaid work and undergo 12 months supervision by probation officers. He is excluded from going to Hart Lane or Abbots wood Road.

Noon was ordered to carry out 100 hours unpaid work and also undergo 12 months supervision. His is banned from going to the shop or its forecourt at 70 Hart Lane.

Both have to pay Mr Chan £200 compensation.

NEW DATE FOR COURT MEETING

A VISIT to the county by Justice Minister Shailesh Vara to discuss the relisting of court cases from Bedford to Luton has now been rescheduled.

rescheduled.
Mr Vara was due to visit Bedford on April 8 to hear representations from local MPs, and other members of the legal community on why the majority of all court cases should not be moved from Bedford to Luton but it was cancelled at the last minute.

County MPs Richard Fuller and Alistair Burt say that the move would be a 'closure of Bedford Magistrates' Court by the back door'

The meeting will now be held on June 12. In the meantime the minister has offered a meeting at the House of Commons on Wednesday.

MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER

A LUTON man has pleaded guilty to the murder of his sister-in-law six weeks after she had married his brother.

He pleaded guilty to the murder of 70-year-old Mary Evans on November 18 last year.

November 18 last year.
She died from stab wounds she received as she sat behind the wheel of her car in Trent Road, Luton. Mary was on her way to collect her grandson from school when she was attacked.

Wind farm subsidies to be blown aside by 2015, says minister farms will be axed by 2015 because the technology is already mature, according to Energy Minister Michael Fallon.

The MP (pictured right) spoke about the issue on Friday when he visited the Aircraft Research Association (ARA) in Bedfordshire. He said: "What we are doing is

He said: "What we are doing is phasing out the subsidy for technology that becomes mature and we've been subsidising on shore wind for about 20 years in this country and it's fully mature and perfectly capable of standing on its own two feet commercially.

Mr Fallon was shown research at ARA, which aims to improve the fuel economy and aerodynamics of aircraft and has benefitted from government funding from government funding.

He added: "They are on the cutting edge of helping us develop cleaner and quieter aircraft. Your air ticket is cheaper because of the work that's done here. Your air ride is calmer and less turbulent, the coffee stays in your cup on the plane, and if you live next to an airport over recent years these aircraft have got quieter."

18-inch long super rat is caught on camera

BY STEFAN BARTLETT

THIS is a picture of an 18-inch long super rat that was snapped in Luton by a pest controller.

Tony Margiocchi was out in Library Road taking pictures for his new pest control business when this monster wandered into his shot.

The rat was keen to examine a fast food box for a potential meal. The box was close to a trap put out by Mr Margiocchi, a qualified pest control-ler with the Royal Society for Public

He said: "I put out a trap baited with some sardines.

"I was sat about 18 metres away when this massive rat appeared. He was so big I couldn't get him all in

This is the latest super rat to have been spotted following sightings in various parts of the country, including Liverpool, Kent and Cornwall. Mr Margiocchi believes conditions are perfect for rats to breed thanks to a mild winter. And there is plenty for them to eat in the shape of discarded fast food.

Mr Margiocchi said: "I don't think I can blame Luton council for the rat problem. The budget for street cleansing might be under pressure, but the council didn't dump the fast food

"There is plenty of food dumped on the street on a nightly basis.

"Everyone who dumps food on the street is responsible for this super-rat problem. We need to all work together to face this problem.

"Not dumping food is a good start but we also need to target rat populations with poison.

"That is the only way to keep them

under control.'

Unfortunately some poisons now sold to deal with rats are ineffective according to Dave Westcott, director of Al Pest Control in Luton.

He said: "Some of the rats have become immune to the poisons.

"The reason they are growing so big is in part due to the amount of food left around for them.

"I've seen them in all sizes.

"The largest are the size of cats and they are worse than rabbits for breeding.

The party will get under way when Hatters' players and officials arrive in St George's Square from Kenilworth Road stadium in a traditional open-top bus at 12.30pm.

They will be invited by the Mayor Cllr Sheila Roden onto a specially-erected stage for short celebratory speeches and live interviews.

Afterwards, players and officials will attend a civic reception in the Town Hall. Cllr Roden said: "I have of course been following the results and fortunes of Luton Town FC closely this season and took the precaution of extending this invitation to the club's officials some weeks ago with fingers firmly crossed that our wishes would come true.

"The Hatters' promotion is a great achievement that the whole town is rightly proud of and wishes to celebrate in the heart of our community.

"I cordially extend the warmest of invitations to all Lutonians and supporters of the club to join us Hatters' managing director Gary Sweet said: "Luton is on the up in so many ways and we hope that our fantastic season on the pitch will heighten the feel-good factor in the town at the moment.

"We've packed our fantastic supporters inside Kenilworth Road week in, week out and would like the opportunity for the town to come together for one big party. It will also enable the players, staff and directors to thank everyone for their support which has inspired this talented and determined group of people to become champions.

"In the words of John Still 'the stronger the team, the stronger the team,' and we are privileged that the Mayor has invited the club to share the success with everyone.'

The bus tour will depart Kenilworth Road, Luton, at around 11.30am and proceed to St George's Square at walking pace or similar via Dunstable Road, Telford Way, Hucklesby Way, Bridge Street and Manchester Street.

Story of suffering lands top 10 sales

BY JUDY RILEY

CHILD abuse is headline news at the moment. When perpetrators such as the killers of Baby P., Victoria Climbie or, most recently, Daniel Pelka come to court, the country is rightly shocked.

But those terrible cases of violent abuse are just the tip of the iceberg. Every day, children are subjected to cruelty and neglect and, in the worst case scenarios. serious physical abuse.

Now one man who spent years suppressing the torment of a childhood from hell, has written and selfpublished his memoirs.

Life Without... Dave White's heart-breaking story of his childhood growing up in a violent family home in Luton, has become a top ten book on amazon.com. The Kindle version made seventh posi-tion and it recently reached a surprise third position within the Memoir genre of the online book store

SURVIVOR: Dave White reflects on the past in his memoir, Life which is for sale through the online book store, Amazon

A true story, Life Without. follows Dave's search for someone who believes him, until by chance he discovers the truth; that his tormentor is not his real father.

Dave White says: "I have suffered with PTSD since I was 13. Most of what I went through before that age I never talk about. The book tells you of these years and how it has affected my life since

"I'm hoping that people can see that when things seem to be falling apart around them, that there is a way through.'

VIOLENT crime in the UK is falling, a study involving Luton and Dunstable Hospital has revealed.

In England and Wales serious violence decreased by 12 per cent in 2013 compared to 2012, say researchers at Cardiff University who published a report on Wednesday.

The study estimates that 234,509 people attended emergency departments, minor injury units and walk-in centres for treatment following violence in 2013 which is 32,780 fewer than in 2012.

The data was gathered from 177 emergency units, including the L&D, and shows that levels of serious violence have fallen every year since 2008 using this measure.

Authors of the report suggest the fall may be due to a number of factors including less binge drinking.

Jonathan

Professor Jonathan Shepherd, director of the violence and society research group at Cardiff University,

UPVC Window and Door Industry said: "Violence is falling in many Western countries and we don't know all the reasons why. Binge drinking has become less frequent, and the proportion of youth who don't drink alcohol at all has risen sharply risen sharply.

"Also, after decades in which alcohol has become more affordable, since 2008 it has become less affordable. For people most prone to involvement in violence, those aged 18-30, falls in disposable income are probably an important factor."

Exploit our energy resources

SIR – It has recently emerged that vast deposits of coal have been found beneath the North Sea to which access can be gained via shafts and tunnels from dry land. It is reckoned that these deposits could be

It is reckoned that these deposits could be more than enough to supply all the UK's needs for hundreds or even a thousand years. And, of course, we already know we appear to be sitting over vast gas fields which can be accessed via fracking.

Surely it would be madness to not exploit these twin El Dorados of cheap secure energy on our doorstep in preference to continuing to rely on energy from unpleasant medieval autocracies like Saudi Arabia and Putin's Russia. We could also call a halt to the wicked vandalism of our countryside by wind-farm projects whose unreliable electricity costs four times as much as coal.

Research into technology to liquefy and 'clean up' coal was all but abandoned when cheap North Sea gas became available but as energy costs have soared and our gas reserves have dwindled this technology has already become viable. As coal can be readily converted into oil, gas and most plastics we must not ignore this bonanza.

The Greens always bang on about the legacy we're leaving. What better legacy could we leave than a virtually inexhaustible supply of cheap, secure, home grown energy and raw materials? It could even put the 'Great' back into Britain.

John Still should be honoured

SIR – As a life-long Luton Town Football Club supporter as well as being a season ticket holder and local councillor, I am of the opinion that John Still, the manager of Luton Town Football Club, should be given The Freedom of the Borough.

Borough.
Luton Town has been through lots of ups and downs over the years with some people doing their best to undermine its wellbeing.

As a Lutonian born and bred I love my town and have done my best as both a mayor and as a councillor to see it move forward for all of its citizens.

Therefore I very much hope that everyone will celebrate the football club's success.

I hope that this will bring us all together to work in the interests of

I urge the movers and the shakers at the Town Hall to make sure that John Still is given the Freedom of the Borough and his team a civic reception.

They deserve it because they have lifted the standing and morale to a level not seen for many years.

As Eric Morecambe said:
"Bring me sunshine in your smile and laughter all the while" which I hope the football club will do for many years to come.

The UK's heart health charity is asking the people of the East of England to become a BHF "Heart Flyer" and take on a 10,000ft tandem skydive in aid of the fight against coronary heart disease – the UK's single biggest killer.

The training and jump is available at 20 drop zone locations throughout England, Scotland and Wales, including March, Peterborough and Norwich, in partnership with specialist parachute company provider, UK Skydive. Raise over £400 and you will be able to jump for free.

You will be attached to a professional British Parachute Association Instructor as you free fall at around 120mph for 45-50 seconds.

Last year, our Heart Flyers raised over £100,000 to help us continue our life-saving work. This year, we want to smash this total.

Coronary heart disease is responsible for 7,200 deaths in the East of England each year, that's nearly 20 people every single day.

We are asking people of the East of England to sign up today and help us eradicate this dreadful disease.

Don't give up the fight

SIR – Like me, Martin Newman is a former Unite and TGWU shop steward (LoS Letters, April 20) but, unlike me, he seems to have given up the fight. He said: "The workers' rights produced

He said: "The workers' rights produced by the EU are negated by zero hours, opt out contracts and by reducing people's wages."

If he truly wants to get rid of these evils he could join me in asking voters to support

Labour MEPs in the European election on May 22 and in voting for a Labour government next year. The Tories claim that wages are now rising

The fories claim that wages are now rising faster than prices, but that is the average figure distorted by massive increases for high earners.

Most of your readers are no better off than they were a year ago and those affected by the hated 'bedroom tax' are certainly suffering.

HILE on holiday several different ideas came together. I should go more often. Who said hear, hear? And I was reading - very dangerous.

First, for no apparent reason I found myself looking at some stuff by C S Lewis, particularly on England's 'inner ring'. Lewis was an Irish allrounder and, apparently, could be quite difficult could be quite difficult.

While not anti-English he thought us a queer bunch, in the pre-war meaning the pre-war meaning. He wrote of how, in order to get on, one has to enter these closed groups he called inner rings. The more exclusive the better. There is little point in being in a club everyone can join. These inner rings are as much about who is outside as who is inside.

As Groucho Marx once said:

As Groucho Marx once said: 'I would not want to belong to a club that would let me in as a member.'

This drive to be on the inside looking out is both what is most important in English society and most damaging to us, as these clubs transcend normal politics and any possibility of a meritocracy, let alone equality. And as C S Lewis said, some of these inner rings are what make decent men, and women if allowed in, scoundrels.

I found this view under-

It's still all about who you know lined by my next tome, on Kim Philby. He and the other 'Cambridge spies' had one overriding element in common: all were from good stock. Their parents were in the right jobs, were members of the right clubs, went to the right schools and of course to Oxbridge. And when their sons want-

And when their sons wanted to join the inner circle of the British Government, they just asked one of their own, who facilitated entry. They did not need vetting. Who would need to check someone from a top public school and Trinity College, whose father was a senior diplomat in India and the Middle East?

They just sauntered in to the diplomatic service and M15 like they owned the place. And to some extent they did. They then got on with the task of betraying their country, while sipping pink Gins.

Some years ago Dennis Skinner MP pointed out, when the Thatcher Government banned Trade Unions from GCHQ for security reasons, it's not the workers you should worry about. If the upper classes had been banned from entering the Civil Service we would have had no traitors. It's all about boys clubs.

The point is that little has changed in nearly 100 years. Still we try to join exclusive clubs. Even those bent on change, such as left wing MPs, end up talking reverentially of the Houses of Parliament, their own private club, and failing completely to see why we think the joke that Guy Fawkes was the only person to enter Parliament with good intentions is only partly a joke.

It's a club, mainly a boys

It's a club, mainly a boys club, quite exclusive and its mojo is a very few are in it and most people are not, who only care about the outsiders once every five years. And just how do you get to be a diplomat, or ambassador, or spy these days?

After almost two years of campaigning, the Honorary Consul, Guy Moliterno, will open his office at Mayfair, 11 Lurke Street, Bedford, on Wednesday

Wednesday.

Mr Moliterno was awarded the title of Honorary Consul to Italy earlier this year.

Luigi Reale, who has been

The protest committee set up after the closure of the old vice-consulate in 2012 has now been dissolved.

The office, which will provide services such as European identification

Judith and trainer Chris Burford

Powerlifter Judith aims to inspire.

POWERLIFTING record holder Judith Kandekore may spend her days lifting three times her bodyweight, but she is now turning her attention to lifting the spirits of local residents

The 45-year-old Lutonian aims to change the perception of female weightlifters, as well as encourage young-sters to become fitter.

At the British Full Powerlifting Championships on April 5 she came away with two British records and a world record in her m2

This week CARL MUNGAZI spoke to Luton's very own female powerlifting champ about her plans to get more people into the gym weight class after lifting a combined total of 325kg (110kg squat, 75kg bench and 145kg dead lift).

Now Judith, who also works in the youth offending service, is starting a selfdefence class at the Shift 2 Sport gym in Sundon Park, owned by her trainer (and former body builder) Chris Burford.

She wants to use her fitness and social services skills to reach out to residents in the community, including young people from disadvantaged backgrounds and people with disabilities.
She said: "From an early age I was an athlete and Í started in athletics. During one season I was injured for a year so I decided to pursue power lifting to test that. "I also teach martial arts and fitness training, and I am trying to promote this and say that you don't need a manly physique to do this. "We want to offer the community facilities that are affordable and we want this to work. We know it will because some of the people that have come through have seen improvements."

Judith is now targeting next month's European powerlift-ing championships in Belfast and she hopes to continue flying the flag for her gym, and inspire other women to become more active, even if they opt not to lift weights.

She added: "For me it's also about highlighting to females that coming into the gym arena does not mean you have to lose your femininity because I weigh about nine and a half stone but I can lift three times my body weight."

Patients are benefitting from an improved NHS

A very important part of my job as a local MP is to make sure that our NHS is delivering really good care for local people.We are fortunate to have a very well regarded Luton and Dunstable Hospital as well as dedicated GPs and community health staff. Of course from time to time things go wrong, as they do in any organisation and I am always available to my constituents to take up any particular concerns they may have.

I have raised concerns in the past about aspects of orthopaedic care at the Luton and Dunstable Hospital and I believe that improvements have been made since then.

There were concerns before last winter that our accident and emergency departments would not be able to cope but it is very good news that A&E targets have been met both for the last quarter and for the last year as a whole despite there being more than 100 additional admissions each week since the previous year.

On average, waiting times in A&E have fallen from over 70 minutes under the last gov-

Guest columnist Andrew Selous, MP for South West Bedfordshire, examines how issues have been improved in our health service ernment to 30 minutes now. Our A&E departments are treating on average 2,000 more people every day within four hours compared to what happened before 2010.

Across the whole of the NHS

800,000 more operations have been carried out every year under this government and at the same time mixed sex wards have been virtually eliminated and hospital infections halved.

In addition, waiting times are lower at 18, 26 and 52 weeks than at any time under the last government.

Many patients have also benefitted from the new Cancer Drugs Fund.

The reforms which we have introduced are enabling £1 billion in back office savings to be redirected into front line care enabling 1,700 more nurses and 7,000 more doctors to be employed.

The direction the coalition government has taken in England is in sharp contrast what has happened in to what has nappened in Wales where the government there has cut NHS spending and with a result that a third of Welsh patients are now waiting more than eight weeks for a scan compared to just one per cent in England.

The government is determined that the lessons of the Mid Staffordshire Hospital scandal will be learnt.

We now have a Chief Inspector of Hospitals who has put 14 hospitals in special measures. These hospitals are being turned around.

MORI polling shows that the number of people who feel they are being treated with dignity and respect by the NHS has gone up by 10 per cent to the highest level ever.

Everything is bigger in Texas, even the scale of its very friendly nature

TRAVEL

RUPERT MARQUAND has just come back from two weeks in the Lone Star State...

YOU wouldn't expect to find the heart of a culture in a gas station.

But in Texas you can hear it, see it and indulge in it in those solitary, beacon-like buildings.

They are where I saw two strangers boister-ously discussing the price of a carton of pre-peeled boiled eggs, where I eavesdropped on a drunk customer sympathetically asking the worker behind the counter how the graveyard shift was going and where I was called Sir when informed the restroom was out of action.

They're a living exhibition of the spontaneous and unyielding friendliness of the people in that state and I soon realised it was my turn to get involved.

In Austin, I approached a stockily built and thickly bearded worker with my bottle of unpurchased water and went for it: "How you doing?"

"I'm good, how y'all doin'?"
"I'm good, how y'all doin'?"
"I'm doing good thanks."

I was smiling, he was smiling, it felt like everyone who was waiting in line was smiling at how well the exchange had gone. And as he are and one the next customer to repeat the moved onto the next customer to repeat the process I left the garage with an unfamiliar sense of good feeling towards humanity. Had the affable nature of the Texans, to outsiders and each other, made me a better person in the space of a week?

Any preconceptions of the Lone Star State as a hotbed of gun-wielding rednecks with attitudes as tough as the leather on their cowboy boots had long since dissipated into the still, dry air.

Maybo West Tayes would be different?

Maybe West Texas would be different?

With the roof down on our convertible muscle car we drove hundreds of miles deep

DON'T MESS WITH TEXAS: The Ballroom gallery in Marfa, a tiny town in West Texas that's home to a vibrant arts community (left) and American road signs (right) into the dusty, spacious West speeding along one seductively long, straight road to the next towards a horizon with few landmarks, towards the end of the Earth.

BRRRRMMP

'What was that?"

"I think it was a cattle grid'

"How fast were you going?" "90..."

And on we went until we hit Marfa, a nothing town in the middle of nowhere until about 40 years ago when American artist Donald Judd moved there to escape the claustrophobia of

Now the town, still only about a mile wide by a mile long, is home to art foundations, galleries and an ever-evolving community of artists. It's an outpost of creativity enveloped by a timeless desert landscape; a place where the mind can feel unburdened and unclut-tered by modern life, unless you're on a tight schedule and need to drive all the way back across the state the next morning.

But before then, the Lone Horse Saloon in town sells $1 beers on Wednesday night though even the man in there who wore a cowboy hat, had an eye patch and a handlebar moustache and was unfailingly polite.

Texas does not fail to please.

If you enjoyed reading this article and you're an attractive American woman under the age of 30 who would be up for a sham marriage with Rupert so he can get the visa to work in America, get in touch.

He looks forward to hearing from you.

That's entertainment as From The Jam rock the Corn Exchange

REVIEW

FROM THE JAM

Bedford Corn Exchange

Saturday, April 19

A PACKED and enthusiastic audience greeted From The Jam and enjoyed a classic night of pop nostalgia, celebrating the hits of Mod legends The Jam.

The Jam emerged in the Punk/New Wave era of the late 70s, enjoying a run of hits before splitting suddenly in 1982. Frontman Paul Weller went on to solo stardom while bass player Bruce Foxton continues to fly the flag with From The Jam.

But this is no mere tribute act. The band plays with a passion and intensity that has the audience – ranging from teenagers to 40 and 50-somethings who were there first time around – dancing and singing with gusto.

The set begins with a play-through of The Jam's defining All Mod Cons album featuring rousing crowd favourites like Down In The Tube Station at Midnight and David Watts and the gentle ballad English Rose watts and the gentle ballad crightsh rose.

Lead singer Russell Hastings is obviously not Paul Weller but he does a great job as front man, delivering the songs in convincing style.
The second half of the show provides more

'greatest hits' fare including Beat Surrender, Going Underground and finishes with a blistering encore of That's Entertainment and

To loud cheers, the band announce they will be back in Bedford later this. So will the audience on this showing!

If 'heritage' acts are your thing then watch out for rockers Big Country and 'Madchester' band Inspiral Carpets at the Corn Exchange. Review by Stefan Bartlett

Spider-Man 2 isn't amazing

FILM REVIEW

THE AMAZING SPIDER-MAN 2

Cert. 12A

On general release

THIS sequel to 2012's enjoyable reboot is a surprisingly paint-by-numbers entry saved by a shock ending. It doesn't suffer from Spider-Man 3 syndrome which had so many villains, its critical mauling ended the last Tobey Maguire franchise. But it fails to particularly excite unless it's the power of the on-screen, working chemistry between Andrew Garfield and Emma

This second film seems more of yet another build-up story with Oscar-winner Jamie Foxx (Ray) underwhelming as electricity-wielding villain Electro.

As the relationship between Peter Parker (Andrew Garfield) and Gwen Stacey (Emma Stone) meanders between love and break-up the mysterious Oscorp continues to throw up more questions than answers. In the meantime, lovable loser and Oscorp engineer Max Dillon falls into a water pool filled with electric eels.

He becomes the maniacal Electro who then goes nutty by wreaking black-out havoc across New York.

While there's much to enjoy from this sequel acclaimed director Marc Webb had to get this out less than two years after the first. So there's an underlying, slightly unsatisfactory rushed feel until, that is, the surprise ending.

That leads into a short bonus entry for a third villain, The Rhino (Oscar-nominated Paul Giamatti). Though it's probably more of a set-up for a spinoff, villainous Sinister Six movie than anything else.

Thankfully though, Garfield,

Stone and newcomer, Chronicle's Dane DeHaan as Chronicle's Dane DeHaan as villain no. 2, The Green Goblin, are charismatic enough to pull you into Spidey's web.
Sadly this Spider-Man is still well short of amazing and, with Marvel raising the bar with Avengers Assemble and the recent Captain America movie, it really lacked that venomous bite.

Beating the drum for tap dancing on this factory floor

DANCE

TAP FACTORY

Gordon Craig Theatre, Stevenage

Today 7.45pm

gordon-craig.co.uk

MIX together Blue Man, Tap Dogs and Stomp, set it in an industrial-style set and what do you get?

Tap Factory (pictured below), that's what. With its street-smart percussion, bodypopping, gymnastics and clowning around, this is tap dancing for the 21st century.

It's an all-macho, all-muscle-bound male, choreographed spectacular. Dismiss any notions of Fred Astaire or Gene Kelly, of top hats and tails, this is testosterone-fuelled street dance that harks back to its multi-cultural roots.

If you've ever wondered what happens to those huge oil drums once they've been emptied of their contents, look no further. The rhythm of life is everywhere and oil drums, step-ladders, wooden chairs and even tap shoes are the instruments.

It's Morecambe, Rubbish!

MORECAMBE

Gordon Craig Theatre, Stevenage Wednesday/Thursday 7.45pm gordon-craig.co.uk

WHAT do you think of it so far? It'S testament to Eric Morecambe's enduring popularity that people will still shout 'Rubbish!' when they hear that line.

Tim Whitnall's script, which cleverly mixes biography and gags com-bined with Bob Golding's tour de force of a performance as 'the one with glasses' is a joyfully convincing celebration of the life and times of a national treasure.

From grave to cradle, in that order, Golding captures the stage persona of Eric, a man who retained his wideeyed innocence and quick-witted humour throughout his life.

His enduring relationship with Ernie Wise, that made the two of them the most successful double act of all time, is represented on stage

Little Ern, the one with the short, fat, hairy legs, makes an appearance but maybe not quite as you might expect. Eric's trademark backslaps to the head, the loud and over-dra-matic throat-clearing and the stage business with those thick-rimmed specs are all brilliantly observed. But Golding's strength is also in his affectionate portrayal of a genuinely funny guy who, over a lifetime, worked incredibly hard to perfect his act with honesty and integrity.

MORE than 50 years after they inspired Bill Wyman to buy a guitar The Barron Knights are still performing their comedy music show. Fifty years ago they toured with the Beatles and the Rolling Stones, they've sold 11 million records, completed 30 world tours, played more than 300 shows at the London Palladium and performed before royalty no less than five times.

Touring pretty much non-stop since 1960, they've come a long way from humble beginnings in Leighton Buzzard - though later this week, not too far geographically. The current line-up will be playing all their old favourites at the Gordon Craig Theatre on Friday at 7.45pm.

Call the box office on 01438 363200 for details of both shows.

Robert Powell acquires gold blend Christie

ARRIVING on the scene of a murder just a moment too late is Hercule Poirot. Poirot is ROBERT POWELL. Robert Powell? Are you sure? Not...?

Nope. The actor who first came to prominence as Jesus in Franco Zeffirelli's Jesus of Nazareth has stepped into the elegant spats of the Belgian detec-tive with the abundance of little grey cells in Agatha Christie's thriller Black Coffee. In advance of the show's week-long run at Milton Keynes Theatre this week, ANDY WATT talked to Robert Powell about the play. "I can't tell you too much about it otherwise it wouldn't be a murder mystery", he says. "But whereas with an Ágatha Christie such as Murder at the Vicarage there's clearly going to be a murder in a vicarage, with Black Coffee it's not so clear; it could be a story about Starbucks. It's not, of course. It may have been her debut stage play but it's nevertheless classic Christie.'

You can see the video interview with Robert Powell at:luton-dunstable.

Through daily study of the Kumon programmes, your child will develop the independent learning skills to learn for themselves, so they do not become dependent on – or limited by – the skills and knowledge of others. Your child will then be able to apply these skills to all subjects and outside of school too.

The Kumon Maths and English Assessment Event will take place Thursday 1st May at Christchurch Bushmead, Hancock Drive, Luton LU2 7SF.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.

The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it[†].

No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

It's pretty hard to take exception to MINI's second generation Convertible. It looks sportier (and is), yet it's cheaper to run and more eco friendly. It offers more space and plenty of hi-tech features. But best of all, it's still just as much fun to drive as the original. Some things never change.

With a raised shoulder line, highlighted by a chrome strip which extends around the body of the car, the MK2 MINI Convertible has a more purposeful and dynamic stance than its predecessor. The Cooper S Convertible sets itself apart visually through the presence of an enhanced 'powerdome', which sits 20 millimetres higher than the MINI Cooper's bonnet and houses a large air scoop. At the rear end. large twin tailpipes, a large diffuser in the rear bumper and a two-piece rear fog lamp mark it out. There's a choice of 98bhp 1.4 MINI One. 122bhp 1.6 Cooper and 184bhp Cooper S variants - plus a 112bhp diesel. All are decently equipped. The other option is the 211bhp John Cooper Works Convertible which has a considerably more hardcore focus.

The automatic canvas roof of this car can be fully retracted or closed using a roof-frame mounted toggle switch in just 15 seconds. In the event of a driver being caught unexpectedly by a sudden downpour, this function will fully operate with the car at speeds of up to 20mph. As an alternative to the complete top-down driving experience, the full-width of the electric roof can be retracted by approximately 40cm to create the effect of a sunroof. This function can be operated at speeds of up to 75 mph.

FINAL GOAL: Alex Wall celebrates his winner as fans spill on to the pitch

Magical season ends

SKRILL PREMIER HYDE LUTON TOWN

BY TOM SHARP

CHAMPIONS Luton Town said goodbye to the Skrill Premier as substitute Alex Wall's cool 70th-minute effort was enough to ensure a 1-0 victory at bottom club Hyde.

On paper this clash was a mis-match as the hosts, boasting just one league win all season, entertained the division's outstanding side.

However, the form book well and truly went out of the window as Hyde sparred courageously with the Hatters.

Luton bossed the opening half but Jake Pollard's looping 42nd-minute shot would have handed Hyde an incredible lead had the crossbar not been the saviour for Town. Buoyed by their first-half performance, the Tigers continued to battle but the visitors finally made the breakthrough as Andre Gray flicked on for the rampaging Wall, who finished with calmness to break Hyde hearts.

Jonathan Smith's substitute return exactly four months after breaking his leg at Barnet on Boxing Day was the gloss on this rather underwhelming win.

Not the predicted goal fest to see Luton finish their championship-winning season but a win is a win and just as they have for the past eight months, Town have come up with the three points when it mattered.

For the entirety of this encounter, four sides of Ewens Field were adorned with orange and various fancy dress outfits as Town's 2000-plus following took over to worship the feted champions.

The Hatters were forced into making two changes as Alex Lacey and Andy Parry came in for the injured Fraser Franks and captain Ronnie Henry.

Defence was surely not going to be an issue against the bottom side with just ten points to their name.

With Hyde having conceded 118 league goals while Town had notched 101 goals, it should have been a cricket score.

Town thought the chances would surface against their relegated hosts but when Gray skewed an eleventh-minute shot when faced with an open goal, it rather seemed the visitors were resting on their laurels.

season and promotion back to League Two for the first time in five years.

"With the support we had today, it really blew me away," said a delighted Still.

"I feel very proud and honoured to have been the manager.

"I have had special days with other teams in regards to promotion and that was another one."

Still has been no stranger to success in his career but believes that steering the Hatters out of non-league football is his greatest achievement to date, especially as it came after the hurt of being relegated to the Conference in 2009 following a 30 point deduction by the FA.

"Dagenham & Redbridge was special [gaining promotions from the Conference to League One] but this is a different special," he said.

PITCH PARTY: Hatters fans celebrate the league title once more with a pitch invasion with win at doomed Hyde scorer Adam Blakeman hit a rising drive in the seventh minute that brought Mark Tyler into action for what was a spo-

Had Hyde shown such resilience in some of their previous 45 Skrill Premier games, they would have amassed more than just the one league victory at Welling back in January.

Luton pushed and probed at the home back four but neither league golden boot winner Grav nor Mark Cullen could beat mostly untroubled keeper Chris Kettings.

Hyde arguably provided the moment of the match in the 42nd minute as slick passing in the final third allowed Pollard a sight of goal.

With Tyler beaten, the midfielder's dipping shot left Hatters' hearts in mouths as it clipped the crossbar. The small pocket of Hyde fans would have blown the roof off their section had it found the net.

At this stage it was hard to tell who were the runaway league leaders and who were the bottom side.

Pelly Ruddock-Mpanzu made way for Wall on the stroke of half time, presumably due to injury and three minutes into the second phase, the substitute almost found the way through. He leapt like the most flexible of basketball players but was a hair away from converting Jake Howells' left-foot At the other end, Blakeman went close with a free-kick that had Tyler sprawling to again prevent Hyde taking a shock but deserved lead.

Luton may not have played their best but when Cullen was felled in the box they looked to have got out of jail.

However, referee Anthony Backhouse did not feel the contact was worthy of a Hatters penalty. Luckily for Luton, solace was just around the corner.

Tyler's long ball landed on Gray's head and his flick found Wall racing on to slot past Kettings.

Having broken the deadlock Luton laboured, looking for another goal to confirm the win. That was not to come but the sight of Smith was just the tonic for the Hatters' following.

The final whistle again heralded the sight of Hatters fans on the pitch but who could blame them? Five years of misery over and no more Conference football.

Dunstable Town seal back-to-back league championships

BY MATT DESAI

sport@lsnmedia.co.ul

DUNSTABLE Town beat Uxbridge 1-0 at Creasey Park yesterday to lift the Southern League Division One Central title.

The victory saw The Blues finish top by one point over Rugby Town, thanks to Chris Marsh's strike mid-way through the first half, ensuring they will definitely be playing in the Premier Division next season.

In an exhilarating campaign of football that has seen the lead at the top of the table switch hands many times. Dunstable went into the final game in pole position knowing that three points in front of their fans would secure the title, and they duly delivered.

With nerves understandably in the air, the hosts began in cautious fashion, managing to create chances but fluffing their lines in front of goal. Forward Marsh came closest to getting the game's first goal early on, but fired over from close range.

The league leaders eventually found the breakthrough shortly after though, to allay some of the fears inside the ground. It was Marsh again at the heart of the play, and he cut in from the left and hammered past the visitors' 'keeper to make it 1-0.

Though it would stay that way until the end of the game, chances came and went for both sides. Kieran Knight twice went close for Uxbridge before the break, but Jamie Head was equal to him in The Blues' net.

Dunstable knew their lead was slight and pushed on for a second to ease the tension. Marsh nearly scored once again but his shot was well blocked, as was Nathan Frater's moments later.

Uxbridge soaked up the pressure well and were looking dangerous on the counter attack, but the hosts held on to seal back-toback promotions after their Spartan South Midlands Premier Division win last season.

Remarkably four teams could have lifted the league title on the final day but it was Town who sealed glory. Elsewhere in the league, BARTON ROVERS suffered a disappointing 3-0 defeat at home to Northwood, pointing 5-0 deteat at noine to Northwood, meaning they missed out on the play-offs. Niko Muir put the visitors ahead on thirty-two minutes, before second half goals from Karl Oliyide and Muir again sealed a comprehensive victory for The Woods.

Defeat means that Barton finish the season in sixth, three points short of the play-offs, but a solid improvement on last year's fourteenth-placed finish.
